Notice of obtainment of “ISO13485:2012” by Sumida Power Technology

SUMIDA CORPORATION announced today that one of its consolidated subsidiary companies, *Sumida Power Technology Co., Ltd. ( hereinafter called “ SPT Company” ) has obtained from a third-party certifier, Bureau Veritas, a certification of ISO13485:2012 on August 19, 2015 which is the International Standard for quality management system for medical equipments.

*Sumida Power Technology Co., Ltd. is headed by a representative director Tomoharu Suseki, and is based on Ueda City, Nagano Prefecture, Japan with lines of business including development, design, manufacture and distribution of electronic components such as transformers, reactor coils and etc. for use in medical equipments

The ISO13485:2012 that SPT Company got certified for is the International Standard that includes additional requirements especially for medical equipments, using the requirements of ISO9001:2008 as a basis. Its concept has been incorporated into the framework of the laws and regulations in many countries including *Japan’ s QMS ministerial ordinance, and it is an effective quality management system aiming to continuously design, manufacture and distribute high-quality as well as safe and useful electronic components for medical equipments.

*Japan’ s QMS ministerial ordinance: Manufacturers of medical devices designated by Health, Labor and Welfare Ministry in Japan are required to exercise production and quality management according to this QMS ministerial ordinance.

By obtaining this certification of ISO13485:2012, SPT Company can demonstrate their quality responsibilities to the customers and the authorities for the electronic components to be developed, designed, manufactured and distributed by them and has a great advantage in expanding their businesses in the medical sector, not only in Japanese market but also in the global market.
